

Baronsmead Unveils New Digs On Emerald Isle

Baronsmead Partners, a specialist insurance broker to alternative investment managers, has opened an office in Dublin to service the growing hedge fund and private equity community in the Irish capital. Andrew Dillon, managing director, will head the new initiative.

Baronsmead Partners Ireland will look to offer its range of financial risks insurance services to funds, fund managers and the existing service provider community in Dublin. "The Irish market is of great significance to the fund industry as a whole, with over 7,000 funds with assets in excess of €1.3 trillion in assets being serviced out of Dublin," said Robert Kelly, managing partner of Baronsmead. "With this in mind, now is the right time for Baronsmead Partners to establish a dedicated business in Ireland."

Published: 10th October 2007